Pedigree of Tempest of Tong, co. York.

Henry Tempest, 8th son of Sir Richard Tempest of Bracewell, Waddington, and Bolling, co. York, Knt., by his wife, Rosamund, dau. and heir of Tristram Bolling of Bolling, near Bradford. He was born probably about 1515. Marriage contract dated 20 March, 18 Henry VIII. (1527), by which Peter Mirfield of Tong and Christopher Mirfield, his son and heir, grant to Sir Richard Tempest, Knt., the wardship and marriage of Ellen, dau. and heir apparent of the said Christopher Mirfield, to be married to Henry Tempest, the son of the said Sir Richard Tempest. It was also agreed that the Mirfields should, before Whit-Sunday ensuing, enfeof Thomas Suttell, Robert Baildon, Henry Skelton, Nicholas Tempest, the elder, Thomas Lister, and Roger Banester of their manors, lands, &c., for these uses, viz: that land in Tong, Stothill, and Collinghead, to the value of £10 yearly, should be for Henry and Ellen Tempest, paying out of it 40s yearly to Peter Mirfield for his life, the remainder of these and other premises to Henry and Ellen Tempest on the death of Peter and Christopher Mirfield without male issue. Sir Richard Tempest undertakes to pay £200 for this marriage, there being a clause in the agreements for restitution in case the Crown claimed Ellen's wardship (orig. deed at Tong 1889). The 6 October 1838, Peter Mirfield gives Sir Richard Tempest a full acquittance for the £200 (abstract of deeds at Tong made 1639, now at Tong 1889). Henry Tempest is thus named in his father's will, dated 6 January 1539: "Also I give and bequeathe unto my sonne Henry Tempest all the lands which I did purchase of the heires of Robert Falthroppe lying in Horton-in-Craven and settell for the terme of his life natural and after his decease it to remagne to the heires male of me the said Sir Richard Tempeste for ever" (will at York Registry). In a Muster Roll for the West Riding of 1539, Henry Tempest was still of the household of his mother, Dame Rosamund, late wife of Sir Richard Tempest, at Bolling, "and able to provide a horse and harness" (Chapier House Book A 2, 23). The 18 November, 33 Henry VIII. (1541), Sir Thomas Tempest of Bracewell, Knt., and his brother, John Tempest of Bolling, paid £40 to Christopher Mirfield for the final assuring of Tong Manor, &c., to Henry and Ellen Tempest, as was agreed upon in their marriage settlements (orig. at Tong 1889). At Easter term 4 Edw. VI. (1550), Henry Tempest and Elena his wife, with Christopher Mirfield, are plaintiffs in a fine of the manors of Tong, Collinghead, and Grendesthorpe (or Grimesthorpe), 65 messuages, 2 water-mills, and land in the said places and in Holme, also the advowson of the Chapel of St. James's, Tong (Yorkshire Fines, Yorkshire Record Society, part 1, page 148). The 14 December 1554, he and his wife Ellen sell a parcel of common (orig. at Tong 1889). At Easter 1556, he and his wife Elena, and their daughter Beatrix, are deforciantes of six messuages in Bolling and Bradford, Sir John Tempest of Bracewell being plaintiff (Yorkshire Fines, part 1, page 191). By deed dated the 20 March, 4 and P. and N., 1557, he and his wife empower Richard Mirfield to levy a fine of recovery of the manor of Tong, and lands in Howley, Morley, Gildersome, Mirfield, Hopton, Kirkheaton, Drighlington, Batley, Smeaton, Ffrysby, Southouran, Boulton, Leeds and Wakefield, and common land in Tong and Colynhead (abstract of deeds at Tong, 1639), and by indenture of award dated 22 March 4 and 5 P.M., 1558, made between Henry Tempest of Tong and Ellen his wife of one part, and Richard Mirfield of Destroppe, co. Northampton, gent, and Anne Oldfield, widow of Edmund Oldfield, concerning the title to the manors of Tong and Collinghead, with land there and in Doncaster and Grimesthorpe, co. With his wife and son he levied several fines of land in Tong in 1575, 76, 77, and 81 (Yorkshire Fines, part 2, pages 78, 101, 104, 127 and 166). Tempest! that name sounds harsh upon my life
And ominous who'd take her to his wife
Alatheia Tempest! Oh that name's more sweet Heaven knew to temper Tempest as 'twas meet
When Thea joy'd to Tempest was agreed
By th' omnipotent, and Goodness should succeed Exemplified in you we find it is
The Masterpiece of Heaven's best artifice
More perfect work I'm sure He could not show
Admirers sure like me must own it so.
If one that's more agreeable is found
Then pound me into dust and strew the ground.

By lease and release dated 15 and 16 October 1717, Henry Tempest joined his father, Sir George Tempest, in cutting off the entail of Tong, the recovery being suffered Michaelmas Term in the same year (orig. at Tong 1889). By this act, which, it was said, was to have his debts paid, he lost the Tong estates. He is named in his father's will, and last in the male entail of Tong. He married after 1741. Was High Sheriff for the county of Hereford 1799; being then described of "Caldwell" (Gent.'s Magazine, Vol. 69, part 1, page 162). He lived apart from his wife for many years; he makes no mention of her in his will. He owned Holly Lodge, Highgate, but sold it before his death (information from Sir Robert Tempest Tempest, 1885). He made his will in February 1815, describing himself of "Tong, co. York, and of Thorpe House, in the parish of Thorpe, co. Surrey." He left nearly the whole of his property to Ellen Tempest, daughter of Mrs. Sarah Graham, which Ellen married George Hicks. Mrs. Sarah Graham was one of the daughters of Mrs. Dawes, sister to Sir Henry Tempest's mother; as executrix, she made affidavit, when proving the will, that Sir Henry Tempest died suddenly the night of the 28th, or very early in the morning of the 29th January 1819. The will was proved in London 27 February 1819 (P.C.C.). With the death of Sir Henry Tempest without male issue (his cousin, John Tempest of Tong, also died without issue in 1786), the Baronetcy of Tempest of Tong expired, the male line is doubtless carried on by some of the descendants of Christopher and Henry, the sons of Richard Tempest, by Alice Mauleverer, though not yet traced. Portrait at Tong Hall.

Sir George Tempest of Tong, co. York, Bart. He left to his dear wife Dame Ann Tempest and her assigns a part of his estate in Tong for the term of her natural life, with free liberty to commit waste. To his fourth son Robert all his lands in Ladythorpe in the township of Fenwick, for life, without impeachment of waste, but charged with an annuity of £30 a year free of taxes, to his son George, by half-yearly payments at Michaelmas and Lady-day, the first payment to be made on which of those days should first happen after his decease. And he gave all his manor and lordship of Tong, in the county of York, with all his rights and the appurtenances belonging to them, and his right of patronage or presentation to the church or parochial chapel of Tong, and all his messuages, lands, woods, &c., in Tong, Drighlington, Hemsworth, Bowling, Pontefract, Tanshelf, Carlton, and Fenwick, in co. York (except what he had hereinbefore given to his dear wife Ann and to his son Robert Tempest for the terms of their respective lives), to his son Nicholas, without impeachment of waste, for life, but subject to certain annuities charged upon them, and with full power to jointure a wife to the amount of £300 a year, either by conveying some part of the lands of that yearly value for her use for her life only (other than Tong Hall and the demesne lands thereto belonging), or by a rent charge for the same sum of £300 yearly for the life of such woman, only if she happen to survive her husband. And after the death of Nicholas Tempest, to the use of the first, second, third, fourth, and other sons of the said Nicholas, and the heirs male of all and every such sons, one after the other, &c. And in default of such issue, to the use of Sir George Tempest's third son John Tempest and his heirs male, with like power to jointure a wife, and subject to pay the same annuities and charges. And in default, to the other younger sons of Sir George Tempest, with like power to jointure a wife, &c. And in default of such heirs, to the eldest son of his son Henry Tempest and his heirs male, with remainder to Henry Tempest's younger sons and their heirs male, subject to the same annuities and charges. And in default, to the daughters of Sir George Tempest's younger sons and their heirs male in succession, so as the person who should intermarry with any of them, and being in actual possession of the manor, lands, &c., shall take upon him the surname of Tempest within three years next after such intermarriage. With remainder to the daughters of Sir George Tempest's eldest son Henry and their heirs male in succession, &c., and subject to the like condition that the person with whom they intermarry shall take the surname of Tempest. And in default of such issue, to the use of George Blenkhaw, son of William Blenkhaw of the city of York and of his wife, who was niece to Sir George Tempest, and to his heirs and assigns for ever, subject to pay the same annuities. With power to grant leases for 21 years, except of the capital mansion of Tong Hall and the demesne lands thereto belonging. The estates of his wife and son Robert, after their decease, were to revert to the owner of the manor and estates hereinbefore settled and entailed, and were to be subject to the same limitations. But, if George Tempest should survive

Letter relating to the Will of the late Sir Henry Tempest.

7 Bedford Row, London.

20 May 1819.

Dear Sir,

Yesterday I inspected the will of the late Sir Henry Tempest. It is dated the 10 Feb<sup>y</sup> 1815 & there are 5 Codicils annexed to it. The will and all the Codicils seem to be wholly written by himself but the last Codicil, which is dated a few Days only before his death, was not signed by him.

M<sup>rs</sup> Graham is the Devisee for Life of his Real Estate, & on her Death it is devised to her second son a clergyman in strict Settlement, with Remainders to her other Children.

The personal Estate is proved to be under £35,000, and it is principally bequeathed to M<sup>rs</sup> Graham & her children. Her eldest son Edward Lloyd Graham a Captain in the Navy and one of the Executors, has alone proved the Will and Codicils, reserving a Right to his mother, Co Executrix to join in the Probate.

Neither you nor your Mother or Sisters are named either in the Will or in any of the Codicils.

The Will is executed in the Presence of Samuel Nott 56 Great Queen St, an Inspector of Convicts, and two servants of the late M<sup>r</sup> Graham's one of whom is stated to be Nott's sister.

Sir Henry calls M<sup>rs</sup> Graham his cousin.

I am Dear Sir—yours v<sup>y</sup> respectfully—R<sup>d</sup> Lambert.

P.S. It has occurred to me, since writing the above that M<sup>rs</sup> Graham must have been Sir Henry's Cousin on his mother's side; and therefore M<sup>rs</sup> Plumbe, M<sup>r</sup> Tempest Haines and your Aunt Henrietta Tempest are now Sir Henry's Co Heirs at Law as to his Real Estate.

Bartlett.
 [Vol. I, p. 65.]

Bartlett of Marldon.

The family of Bartlett were resident in the parish of Marldon three centuries ago. The earliest entry in the parish registers relating to anyone of this name is that of "Otho Bartlett Esq<sup>re</sup>" on the 29th March 1607, the earliest recorded marriage is that of William Jane aliter Bartlett with Alice Chappel on the 18th November 1607, while the earliest baptism is that of "Johan ye daughter of Nicholas Bartlet" 24th June 1614.

There are 52 baptisms, 12 marriages, and 49 burials registered under the name between the dates above given and the end of the last century. In one or two instances the persons named in the entries are described as of Compton or Compton Pool, which is a small hamlet within Marldon parish. The alias of Jane as a surname occurs in some half dozen instances, and the name is frequently spelled "Bartlet."

The earliest will of a Bartlett of Marldon which has been found is that of Thomas Bartlett of Compton, co. Devon, yeoman, which is dated 2nd May, 22 Charles (1646). The testator's wife was named Joane. The will contains the odd bequest of the testator's "greatest bras pan" to a grandchild named Thomas Bartlett, when he should enjoy the tenement wherein the testator then resided. The will recites that Walter Jane, aliter Bartlett, by deed dated 20th September 8 Charles, sold to certain named persons a moiety of a tenement in Compton upon trust for the testator in fee, who gives it to Samuel Bartlett and Odes Bartlett, his sons. One of the witnesses to the will signs "Gualtero Bartlet." It was proved in the Consistory Court of Exeter 30 May 1650.

Bartlett.

[Vol. 1, p. 65.]

Thomas Bartlett, the father of John Bartlett, with whom the pedigree commences, was married twice, first to Elizabeth Phillips in June 1728, and secondly to Christian Adams. He had five children by each wife. He was possessed of considerable property at Marlton, and his second wife brought into the family a house there called Mudge's Place, in which they resided. For more than a century previous to 1650 it had been held by the Adams family under a lease for lives, but in that year the fee simple was conveyed by Sir Edward Cary to Christopher Adams, from whom it descended to Matthew Adams and Nicholas Adams, the latter of whom was the father of Christian Adams mentioned in the pedigree. This Thomas Bartlett commenced the business of manufacturing serge, and is described both in the licence for his first marriage and in his will as a "clothier." He specifically devised portions of his land and property, but the bulk of it went by settlement partly to William Bartlett, his eldest son by his first marriage, and partly to Nicholas Adams Bartlett, his eldest son by his second marriage.

The same Thomas Bartlett had a brother William, who is mentioned in Thomas' will as "my brother William Bartlett of St Mary Church, Gentleman." This William Bartlett was the first of the family to settle at St. Mary Church, and his son Jacob Bartlett of West Hill House, St. Mary Church, afterwards became one of the largest landowners in that parish. An interesting account of his property by the Rev. Canon Brownlow, a Roman Catholic clergyman then residing at St. Mary Church, appears in the transactions of the Devonshire Association for the advancement of Science, Literature and Art, Vol. 18 (1886), and is accompanied by a copy of a map of the Manor of St. Mary Church (circa 1773), showing the land owned by Jacob Bartlett.

The landed property of Thomas Bartlett (the "clothier") in Marlton, which became at his death the property of his son Nicholas Adams Bartlett, ultimately vested in his grandson John Thomas Moysey Bartlett for life, with remainder to his children. It was, however, sold in the year 1880 to the Bewes trustees. John Thomas Moysey Bartlett afterwards emigrated to California, where he died.

For a period of about a century and a half the Bartletts of Marlton used as their arms the following shield:—"Quarterly, per fess indented, argent and gules, four crescents counterchanged." This shield was probably used by them at first without a crest, as appears by the entry of the arms in an anonymous MS. book in the Proprietary Library, Cornwall Street, Plymouth, which is believed to have been written by or for Sir Walter Yonge, Baronet, and is entitled and dated as follows:

Bartlett.

[Vol. 1, p. 65.]

"A catalogue of the Arms of the Nobility and Gentry of Devonshire, Cornwall
and the City of Exon
showing the time
when any family
hath been advanct
and
unto what honours
they have attayned
with the Arms likewise of Dignities Townes and Corporations
with their Crests and Motto's.
Alsoe
the Arms and places of all the Nobility of England as they now ranked anno 1689."

The evidence of the authorship of the volume is said to be but slight. The arms are emblazoned in the book in their usual colours, and the following is a fac-simile of the entry under the name of "Bartlet of Exon and Marldon":—

Bartlet of Exon & Marldon as Gules, 4 quarterly counterchanged.

It will be seen from the above that the words "and Marldon" have been interpolated in a different and more recent handwriting, though the interpolated words have the appearance of considerable age. There is a copy or duplicate of the book in the Library of the College of Arms. That in the Plymouth Library was purchased at the sale, in 1847, of the library, &c., of the Rev. Francis Vyvyan Jago Arundell, Rector of Landulph, co. Cornwall. The MS. was left incomplete by the compiler.

Two other coats are ascribed in the "Catalogue" to families of the name of "Bartlet," but in neither case is the residence of the family given. One is "Sable, a bar-gemell between three cinquefoils argent," and the other "Argent, two bars gules between three sinister hands erect of the second." There is no trace in the records of the College of Arms of these coats belonging to a family of Bartlett, nor do they contain any reference to a family of that name either at Exeter or Marldon. The above quarterly coat, according to the records of the College of Arms, belongs only as paternal arms to a family of Bartlett seated at Castle Morton, co. Worcester, which arms were allowed at the Heralds' Visitation of that county in 1569, and they then recorded a pedigree of six descents, commencing with a Thomas Bartlett and ending with Richard, Elizabeth, and Dorothy, children of John and Thomasine Bartlett, and with Henry and Thomas, sons of Richard and Alice Bartlett.

Bartlett.

Besides this official pedigree the College Library contains amongst the private collections of the late John Charles Brooke, Somerset Herald, a pedigree of the same family, but giving "Thomely" as the first name, and bringing down the descent four generations further to the fourteen children of Rowland and Anne Bartlett, one of whom, named Felix, is stated to have been Titular Bishop of Worcester, and to have sold the Castle Morton Estate to Baron Petre. Two others are described as living in 1778, one being a nun, and the other being a priest, who was then living in Flanders. From the circumstance that the family at Castle Morton was evidently, for at all events the last three generations recorded in Mr. Brooke's pedigree, of the Roman Catholic faith, it seems highly improbable that the family at Marldon, who have always been Church of England people, were descended from them, unless they traced their descent from a previous generation.

A branch of the Castle Morton family of Bartlett moved into Saintsbury, co. Gloucester, and added to the quarterly coat a pheasant proper for crest. It is a singular circumstance that the quarterly coat which unquestionably belonged to a family of Bartlett in 1569, should for a considerable time previously have been quartered by another family of almost the same name, whose paternal arms were different. The Barttelots of Stopham, co. Sussex, have since the marriage (about 1395) of John Barttelot with Joan de Stopham, the eldest daughter and coheir of William de Stopham, quartered as the arms of Stopham the quarterly coat which in 1569 was allowed to the Castle Morton Bartletts. The paternal arms of the Sussex Barttelots are: "Sable, three falconers sinister, gloves pendent argent, tasseled or."

For what length of time the Bartletts of Marldon used the arms attributed to them in the "Catalogue" it is impossible to say, but a silver seal with the quarterly coat and a pheasant for crest has been handed down for three or four generations, and is now in the possession of a member of the family.

It is figured above, but from the fact of the crest not appearing in the "Catalogue," but in the Harl. MSS. (615, 1566) it would appear to have been taken from the latter, and not from the "Catalogue." Its style is Bartlett. somewhat like that known as "Chippendale," and attributed to the year 1770, or thereabouts, but there is little doubt that the seal was owned by Thomas Bartlett of Marldon, who died in 1748, and probably by his father. His son John Bartlett had the same arms and crest and the initials of himself and wife engraved upon a silver teapot, which bears the Hall Mark 1787. He also had a cornelian seal with the same arms and crest.

[Vol. 1, p. 65.]

In the year 1661 the following arms and crest were granted to Ellis Bartlett of Branscombe, co. Devon. Arms.—Sable, a bar gemewe between three cinquefoils, argent. Crest.—A demi-gryphon sable, gorged with a bar gemewe, and supporting a cinquefoil argent.

Branscombe is about 25 miles distant from Marldon in a straight line. The family of Bartlett at Branscombe resided at a house called Hole in that parish, and had used the same arms for a considerable period prior to the grant made in 1661, as the monuments in Branscombe Church testify.

There was a family of the name of Stuckey resident at Weston House, in the same parish, and in 1810 a Royal License was granted to Barnaby John Bartlett of Weston House, Branscombe, to take the surname and arms of Stuckey, and to bear the arms of Stuckey quarterly.

A pedigree showing the descendants of Ellis Bartlett of Branscombe, who married Edith, daughter of Theodore Taner, and of his brother William Bartlett of Branscombe, who died in 1704, brought down to the year 1809, is amongst the private collections at the College of Arms.

Will of Andrew du Moulin, 1849.

Du Moulin Browne.

[Vol. 1, p. 118.]

This is the last Will and Testament of me Andrew du Moulin of the City of Bath, Esquire. In the first place I direct that my just debts, funeral and testamentary expenses shall be paid by my executors hereafter named, as soon as conveniently may be after my decease, and that my funeral shall be plain and unostentatious, and conducted with as little expense as circumstances will admit of. I give to my daughter Ann Atcherly, the wife of Rowland Atcherly of Sheldon in the county of Devon, Esquire, M.D., my gold watch and chain. I give to my dear wife Eliza du Moulin all my tin boxes which shall be in my house at the time of my decease, with all their contents. I give to my said dear wife the use of my rosewood pianoforte during her life, and after her decease to my said daughter Ann Atcherly absolutely. I give to my son Nicholas du Moulin the Portraits of my father, mother, and myself, which I trust he will preserve and bequeath to his child or children as heirlooms. I give to my said son my tin box with my name thereon, containing private papers of my own, and two other boxes containing deeds and papers which formerly belonged to my uncle Sir Thomas Moore and my aunt Lady Mannock, together with all the same deeds and papers respectively, the first mentioned tin box and one of the last mentioned boxes with their contents being now deposited for safe custody in the Banking-house of the London Joint Stock Western Branch Bank, 69 Pall Mall, the other box with its contents being now deposited for safe custody with my trustees, Mr. Thomas Norris, solicitor, and Mr. Macdonnel of 2 Bedford Row, London. I also give to my said son Nicholas du Moulin my four plated side dishes and covers (on condition that he shall accept them in full satisfaction of any claim on me or my estate on account of the loss or deficiency of some half-dozen [more or less] of old worn out silver spoons and forks and some other articles which were lost or missed some years since at my residence in Woolcombe Crescent, Bath, and which he would otherwise have had at my death, and also on account of my having been obliged to exchange some of the old worn out forks and spoons to the benefit of which he thereby became entitled) but not otherwise. And as to the rest, residue and remainder of my personal estate and effects whatsoever and wheresoever not otherwise hereinbefore specifically bequeathed, I give and bequeath unto and to the use of my said dear wife Eliza du Moulin, her executors, and administrators and assigns absolutely. And inasmuch as I place entire confidence in her affection for our children I have no doubt she will make a proper and suitable division of the property between our two daughters, Ann Atcherly and Josephine du Moulin, my said son being already sufficiently provided for, and to this intent I would suggest to my said wife that in disposing of the property between my said two daughters it would be desirable to give the said daughter Ann Atcherly two thirds thereof, in consequence of her being married and having children, and to limit the said shares to the separate use of our two said daughters. I would also suggest that in the event of the death of either of my said daughters in the lifetime of my said wife without leaving issue her share might with propriety be given to her sister. But I hereby expressly declare that the several recommendations, suggestions, and clauses hereinbefore contained shall not have the force or effect of imposing a trust on my said wife, or in any manner abridge or qualify her property and interest in my said estate or effects and premises any rule of equity to the contrary notwithstanding. Also I devise to my said wife all estates, tenements and hereditaments, which now are, or at the time of my decease, may be vested in me as a Mortgagee or Trustee, subject to the trusts and equities affecting the same respectively. And I hereby nominate and appoint my said dear wife Eliza du Moulin, Executrix of this my will, and hereby revoking all former wills by me at any time heretofore made, I do declare this to be my last will and testament. In witness whereof I have to this will contained in two sheets of paper and to a duplicate thereof contained in a like number of sheets, set my hand this twenty eighth day of November in the year of Our Lord one thousand eight hundred and forty nine.

Signed and declared by the said Testator Andrew du Moulin as and for his last Will & Testament in the presence of us present at the same time who in his presence at his request and in the presence of each other have hereunto subscribed our names as witnesses.
